City Judge Adam E. Schatz, in the Court of Special Sessions, yesterday established a novel rule in meting out penalties to tramps. Ever since the building of the big Empire City trotting tracks this city has been overrun by vagrants, who have been responsible for many small crimes. The police have been arresting these men wherever found, but it has been customary to discharge them after keeping them in the police station over night. Yesterday Chief Foley and Judge Schatz had a consultation and adopted a new plan to clear the city of its unwelcome guests. Two vagrants presented themselves in court yesterday merning, which gave Judge Schatz the first opportunity to put his scheme in operation. The men were John Bland and James Logan. The magistrate, after casting his eye over the prisoners, said: "You meem to be of the variety of tramps who are not afraid to use soap and waier when it is at hand. I will let you go with a light sentence of thirty days in the county jail. I wish it known to the fraternity in general that all tramps who appear before me and show signs of having been recently washed will be given light sentences, while the unkempt and dirry kind will get long terms of imprisonment in the penitentlary."

There is still much argument regarding the result of the Republican primaries held in this city on Monday night. Representatives of the Ward wing of the party assert that the vote gives fifteen delegates to Mr. Ward and eight to ex-Senator Burns, representing the State organization. They have also entered a protest in the first ward, which was won by Colonel John E. Bryant, representing ex-Senator Burns, and hope, if in power at the County Convention, to have Colonel Bryant's four delegates ousted and four Ward men put in their places, thus giving them nineteen out of the twenty-three delegates. The Burns men claim four delegates in the First Ward. two in the Third, a half in the Fourth and four in the fifth making ten and a half for them and twelve and a half for the man who handled the Burns forces,

ESCAPES FROM BRONX ZOOLOGICAL GARthe proceedings of the council.
Dr. Meiring seconded the motion to refer to the MANY QUARTERS.

There was terror among all the children up in The Bronx last night, and contrary to their usual e-month-old wolf got out of its cage in The Bronx Park Zoological Gardens and made track, and it was first thought to be a dog. One man near the track thought so and undertook to coax the "dog" home. The "dog" did not like the man's advances and promptly bit a small piece out of his hand. Somebody who knew a wolf when he saw it advised the man to buy a dog, and in the argument that followed his wolfship got away. He was next seen near the track, and caused a commotion among those who saw him there. The news of the animal's escape spread with remarkanews of the animal's escape spread with remarkable speed, and it did not really need the general alarm sent out by the police to widely diffuse the news. The story of 'Little Red Riding Hood' and her adventures with the wolf was told in more than one home in The Bronx last night. Several poultry fanciers reported having been honored by visits from the fugitive, who assessed them from one to three fat hens each for the honor.

The wolf also made the acquaintance of several house dogs as he journeyed, and veterinary surgeons who treat dogs will benefit accordingly. In short, the wolf was easily traced through The Bronx for several miles by reason of his depredations. Every effort will be made to take him, dead or alive.

TRANSVAAL CRISIS DISCUSSED.

LIVELY DEBATE OVER AN ARBITRATION RESOLUTION IN THE PAN-PRESBY-TERIAN COUNCIL.

Washington, Oct. 3.—The Transvaal situation caused an animated discussion in the council of the Pan-Presbyterian Alliance to-day. The contro-versy arose over a resolution introduced by Dr. Cyrus Cort, of Sabillasville, Md., urging arbitration on the Governments of Great Britain and the Transvaal in connection with the present erisis. The resolution was as follows:

That in the name of the Prince of Peace Himself we carnestly deplore and deprecate any resort to the terrible arbitrament of war in the settlement of the pending difficulties between the Governments of Great Britain and the Transvaul Republic, and implore both parties to seek more earnestly a solution of the questions at issue by recourse to methods of international arbitration, so recently recognized and commended by representatives of all civilized Governments on the face of the earth.

The only effect of adopting it would be in the line of the former action of the council in urging arbitration between the United States and Great Britain. em? Meiring's address was received with warm use and he was immediately followed by Dr. Dr. Meiring's address was received with warm applause, and he was immediately followed by Dr. Matthews, general secretary of the Alliance, who declared that the political question was to be found in the very heart of the resolution, as was evidenced by the treatment of Great Britain and the Transvaal as two nations, whereas the controversy was between a nation and a part of that nation. This declaration caused a slight hubbub, and a number of people in the rear of the church rose and loudly declared that the Transvaal was an independent republic.

The vote on the two motions resulted in a tie, eighty votes being cast on each side. The Chair then cast the deciding vote for postponement until Thursday.

The Alliance received standing a letter from President McKinley's private secretary in reply to the letter of the Alliance to the President, saying that he was authorized by Mr. McKinley to assure the Alliance of his "sincere appreciation of the sentiments expressed therein."

The report of the Business Committee recommended that no formal action be taken on Samuel Smith's resolution condemning the growth of sacerdotalism in the Angilean Church on the ground that it was not the custom of the council to interfere in the affairs of other churches. The report was adopted without debate.

A recommendation of the Business Committee to the effect that a greeting should be sent to Queen Wilhelmian of Holland upon her ascension to the throne as the only Presbyterian sovereign and as the representative of a long line of Protestants was also adopted.

The Business Committee also recommended the election of the Rev. Dr. William Gaven, principal of Knox College, Toronto, Canada, as president of the Alliance, and the recommendation prevailed unanimously.

TEST OF PARTY STRENGTH.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT RELATING TO COURT OF APPEALS.

Albany, Oct. 3 (Special).-Up to within a few days it has not been believed that there would be any test of the relative strength of the Republican and Democratic parties at this year's State election, since ro candidate for a State position was to be elected, but now it appears such a test may be made upon a proposed amendment to the Constitution relating to the Court of Appeals. This amendment reads as follows:

ment reads as follows:

Whenever and as often as a majority of the Judges of the Court of Appeals shall certify to the Governor that said court is unable, by reason of the accumulation of causes pending therein, to hear and dispose of the same with reasonable speed, the Governor shall designate not more than four Justices of the Supreme Court to serve as associate judges of the Court of Appeals. The Judges so designated shall be relieved from their duties as Justices of the Supreme Court and shall serve as associate judges of the Court of Appeals until the causes undisposed of in said court are reduced to 2s, when they shall return to the Supreme Court. The Governor may designate Justices of the Supreme Court to fill vacancies. No justice shall serve as associate judge of the Court of Appeals except while holding the office of Justice of the Supreme Court, and no more than seven judges shall sit in any case.

The amendment was proposed by a Republican

Senator, Elon R. Brown, of Watertown, and first was passed by a Republican Legislature in 1898. Then it was once more passed by the Republican Legislature of this year. It thus appears to be stamped as a Republican measure.

Recently some Democrats in attendance at the introduced a resolution against the amendments which was adopted. The resolution declared that the proposed amendment to the Constitution "would deprive electors of the whole State of the right to elect judges of the highst court and give the Govelect judges of the highst court and give the Gov-ernor extraordinary powers, enabling him by his appointment practically to control the Court of Appeals, if he were so inclined; to pack the Court with men who, to say the least, would be inclined to exercise this discretion against the toiling masses." posed to the adoption of such amendment, and tors who believe that this is a government of the people, for the people and by the people to vote against Amendment No. 4, which has for its obagainst Amendment No. 4, which has for its ob-ject the taking away of the right of the people to elect their judges and concentrating the power of appointment in the hands of one man."

DEMOCRATIC POLITICIANS ACTIVE. Some Democratic politicians, it is hinted, intend to array, if they can, the Democratic party also against the amendment. Whether this will take the form of a resolution passed by the Democratic State Committee against the amendment is not yet support of the members of the Court of Appeals, Democrats as well as Republicans, since they are desirous of having aid at the earliest possible moment in the disposal of a large number of cases now before the court. The court is behindhand with its work, but it is stated that it is keeping up with new business before it. If, it is stated, the accumulated cases, which were a heritage from the old Court of Appeals—when there was no Appellate Division of the Supreme Court to help carry part of the burden of considering lawsuits—can once be disposed of, the present Court of Appeals can keep up with its work.

SOME REPUBLICAN OPPOSITION. Some Republican opposition has also been manifested to the amendment. John T. McDonough, the Secretary of State, has made the same points against it as have been made by the Federation of sentative of the "labor wing" of the Republican

John McMackin, the Republican Commissioner of Labor Statistics, has also attacked the amendment. Speaking of the amendment yesterday he said: Speaking of the amendment yesterday he said:

It is proposed by the amendment to enlarge the great powers of the Governor by authorizing him, in addition to the selection of the Justices of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, to name in effect four new judges of the Court of Appeals. This power in the hands of an Executive such as the State has to-day would doubtless be judiciously and properly exercised, but how do we know who may come after him and how his successor may use this power? If he were so disposed he could practically control the decisions of the Appellate divisions and the Court of Appeals. If four more judges are required for the Court of Appeals why should they not be elected by the people as the seven judges now sitting in that court were elected? Why elect some of the judges and appoint others? If the system is to be harmonious and the people of the whole State represented in that court, all the judges should be elected by the whole people and not four of them appointed; four not elected by the people of the entire State, but by the electors of judiciary districts. This is a matter deserving serious consideration on the part of the working classes of the State.
